POINTS AND FACTS OF INTEREST

RAFE'S CHASM

First white men, probably the Norseman, Thorwald, and his band of sea rovers, who sailing down the coast of Vinland (New England) came ashore on a "fair promontory" which made out into the sea in 1004. During the visit his band was attacked by the "Skrellings" (Indians) and Thorwald mortally wounded. By his wish he was buried on the land. In 1605 and in September 1606 Champlain visited this place, on the latter occasion rounding into Gloucester harbor and tarrying several days. He made a map of the place which he named Le Beauport. Like Thorwald he was ambushed and narrowly escaped death. The redoubtable John Smith came here in 1614 and named the Cape, Tragibigzanda after the princess who is reputed to have saved his life when he was captured by the Mahometans.

The three islands, Thachers, Salt and Milk islands were so named by him in commemoration of a feat in which he successively slew and beheaded three Turks. Gosnold in 1602 and Martin Pring in 1603 sailed by and probably landed on the cape. Named Cape Ann in honor of Princess Anne of Denmark, mother of Prince Charles. In 1623-1624 the place was settled by a colony sent out by Rev. John White of Dorchester, England and was incorporated in 1639 and named Gloucester by some settlers from the cathedral city by the Severn. Incorporated a city in 1873. Rockport on the northern side of the cape set off as a town in 1840. Famed for its granite quarries and rugged scenery. Sandy Bay breakwater (uncompleted) encloses one of the largest artificial harbors in the world, 1664 acres.

Stage Fort Park at westerly entrance of city. Site of settlement of Massachusetts Bay Colony, 1623-24. Tablet in commemoration of that fact placed on face of large boulder Conant, Half Moon and Stone beaches.

Rafe's Chasm and Norman's Woe. Scene of "Wreck of the Hesperus." At Magnolia, Hesperus avenue. Fissure in solid rock cliff is 60 feet deep and 12 feet wide.

Mother Ann profile in Stone discovered in 1892 by Capt. William Thompson of Salem at tip end of Eastern point. Dog Bar breakwater a half mile long, completed in 1904, extends from this point. On Eastern Point are many of the show residences of the North Shore. "The Ram-parts" occupies site of Fort Independence. Fine residence of Col. John W. Prentiss recently completed.

Ten Pound Island in outer harbor; government fish hatchery thereon. Used as sheep pasture in early days. Five Pound Island in inner harbor; both so named for amounts in colonial money originally sold for.

Thompson's mountain, or Mt. Anne, West Gloucester, highest elevation on the cape, 255 feet above sea level. Fine view ranging from Mt. Agamenticus on Maine coast to Wachusett Mountain, Bunker Hill Monument to Boston Bay. Tract given over as reservation in memory of Lawrence Minot; thickly wooded, favorite picnic resort; reached from New Way Lane. Nearby is Haskell's pond, from which city's water is secured.

GLOUCESTER'S WATER SUPPLY

One of the Finest and Best Protected in This Country. Facts of Interest to the Summer Colony

Some years ago the writer was one of several to whom was assigned a certain topic, in a series, on which to write, designed for a book which would set off the advantages of Gloucester as a summer resort.

At the conclusion, a couple of paragraphs were added concerning the purity of Gloucester's water supply. The editor of the publication evidently thought the subject of too little importance to be included for it was cut out. Later this decision was reversed and the paragraphs included.

In a way the act of this editor, Gloucester-born, is not to be wondered at. Living practically all his life on Cape Ann he was unaware of the great asset Nature has bestowed on New England in its supply of perfectly pure soft water. The water of other sections of the country is often impregnated with harsh minerals to so great a degree, in some localities, that if a quantity is allowed to evaporate on a marble slab, quite a deposit of this residuum will result.

To the people outside New England the water question is a paramount consideration. The fact that New England has such an inexhaustible supply of pure soft water is one of the drawing cards which attract many to this locality. One of the large businesses of the country consists in bottling the perfectly pure spring water of Maine, which is shipped all over the country in great quantities. It is pure water and nothing more. Nothing more is claimed for it.

Gloucester is especially fortunate in this respect and one of its strongest points with the prospective summer home seeker is the knowledge that this city has, flowing through its mains, some of the purest city water in this country.

The storage basins from which the city derives its water supply are situated in the West Gloucester woods, the water sheds of which are controlled by the city preventing any contamination, especially sewerage defilement, the prolific source of typhoid and kindred diseases.

THE BLUE CUP

Antiquarians Dream of a 1623 "Find"
of Crockery Goes a Glimmering

By Elizabeth A. Chamberline

The commissioner and I were strolling through the park discussing landmarks, old times and old settlers. We stopped at Tablet Rock to read the inscription, which we had done many times before, and then passed on to the old abandoned cellar. Here we paused and allowed our thoughts to turn back to 1623, or the history of the first settlement as we learned it many years ago.

We were engaged in a very earnest discussion of these old settlers when a cry from the commissioner startled me. I did not know what had taken possession of our cellar. Oh! Oh! don't step on it. I looked down only to discover that with the toe of my new and immaculate white suedes, I had unearthed a bit of china.

Tenderly and carefully the commissioner removed a broken blue cup, and no explorer at an Egyptian tomb was more excited than we. Our thought turned to little Patty —, who as a rare privilege was allowed to wash her mother's best china, and what a frightened little girl she must have been when she discovered she had broken one of mother's best cups.

Not shattered by falling to the floor, but only a small piece out of it, Patty tried to wipe them so carefully. It would never do to let mother see it. Fear of her mother's scolding was greater than the fear of the dark cellar, so the blue cup must be buried.

We sauntered along, meeting sprightly Mrs. B with her small daughter Patricia, we thought quite like our little Patty, and exultantly displayed our find, still talking of old china, periods, etc., till Mrs. B sweetly said, "I think if you ask the Woolworths, they'll probably know."

Gone was our romance of centuries, and gone our hopes of a rare find, but we carried with us to the commissioner's home near the park, the little blue cup, which we carefully placed on the mantel over the fire-place. We seated ourselves on the divan gazing all the while on our find, too absorbed to talk, till the voice of the Commissioner's husband was heard to exclaim "Your iced tea will

GLOUCESTER ART SOCIETY

Many Fine Examples of the Work of the Membership on Exhibition at Its Studio

Among the paintings which attract attention at the exhibition of the Gloucester Society of artists are some deserving of especial mention.

T. V. C. Valenkamph's "Swedish Ship on the North Shore" is in the usual strong and virile treatment of this master of marine painting.

A striking subject which claims the attraction of every visitor is the "Portrait of Ann" a painting full of character and individuality.

The "Censer" by Charles A. Winter comes in for much attention and favorable comment. The vermilion and olive green coloring of the Italian school is noticeable, and the vivid faces of the censer bearer is a striking and effective piece of work.

The "Aviator" by Eben Comins receives favorable attention and comment.

The "Girl with the Pomgranite" by George Wilbur Colby shows fine color treatment. The example of Cubist art as evidenced in Charles J. Hopkinson's "Glare on the Water" is in direct contrast with the quiet methods of the old school.

"The Salt House" by Oscar Andersen is in that artist's best vein.

Oliver; "Gloucester Dock on a Gray Day," "Street in St. Augustine" (a not unusual but always pleasing type) by usual but always pleasing type) by Annie H. Pemberton, "Victorine," by Millie Buehl Frederick; "Still Life" numbers one and two by Myron Lechay, paintings by Michel Jacobs, Alex. G. Tupper and Louise Upton Brumback are fine examples of the talent of this society of Gloucester Artists.

Among the statuary the "Ocean and Sail" figure with outstretched arms against a bronze sail held by Neptune, beautifully modeled, attracted attention. This is by Anna Coleman Ladd.

Of the etchings, "Portuguese Wharves," and the "American Venice" by William Meyerowitz were very fine. All of the etchings were much admired. Theresa F. Bernstein, John Sloan, and William Jay Little, being the other contributors to this group.

The second exhibition will open Saturday, July 28th.

THE PAGEANT

It is advisable to make box and seat reservations as early as possible. The demand may exhaust the seating capacity.

SIDE SADDLE RETURNS

Recent advices from London state that the side saddle is returning to favor and the saddlers are busy in filling orders for the returned style.

Queen Mary, who is an enthusiastic equestrian, has always retained the side saddle and is riding more than ever this season.

In addition, riding astride is not considered so graceful or dignified as the port side position. Consequently the greater part of the feminine riders along the Row and the Mall have returned to the old order of things equestrian.

This has boomed business for the habit makers, whose shops are running overtime to supply the demand.

THE wharves and fishermen of Gloucester are subjects of greatest interest to the summer sojourner. Especially so to the artists who find many a theme which transferred to canvass is the best of grist to their mill. Daily scores of the Knights of Brush and Palette may be seen perched on various coigns of vantage embodying in color a wharf scene of life and charm.

The harbor cove, so-called is an especially favored point. Clustered about the wharves are usually found a number of fishing schooners which readily lend suggestions to those on the lookout for an appropriate subject.

Of late years the Italian boats and fishermen. "Guineas" in the local vernacular, have added a brightened hue with their gaudily painted boats and their fishermen in picturesque costumes, a bit of old Italy transferred to austere New England. The Italians still cling to the old cumbersome but safe model they have used for centuries, with the addition of a "Kicker" that is an auxiliary engine. A hard working lot, the Italian oftentimes teaches his northern brother a lesson in thrift.

The fishing schooner, a type which has become universal where men sail the seven seas, originated in Gloucester. The first craft used in the fisheries was the ketch.

In 1712, Andrew Robinson an inventive Yankee shipbuilder at East Gloucester, hit upon a new rig which made sail handling easier.

Came the day for the launching and a big throng was present from all over the Cape to witness the event.

The word was given, the workmen knocked away the blocks and the craft, sliding gracefully from the ways on her side into the water, skimmed lightly across the surface of the inner harbor.

"See how she scoons," exclaimed a spectator.

Then the quick witted Robinson replied, "A schooner let her be."

And as it was spoken, so it was—a schooner the type has always been.

The word to scoon or to skip across the water came down in early Saxon from the Norse language and was current in early times.

Steam and oil have driven the picturesque square rigger from the seas, but the fore and aft schooner, the emblem on the Gloucester civic seal, still continues to be built and thrive and will continue to do so as long as Gloucester remains a fishing port.

SOCIETY FOLK IN THE PAGEANT

Among the colorful scenes in the Pageant "Gloucester" is that of Capt John Smith, who came to "The Faire Headland" now Cape Ann in 1614, which he named Cape Tragabigzanda and the three islands, Thachers, Milk and Straitsmouth, the three Turks Heads from a feat at arms accomplished as a young man while in the Austrian army.

This episode has been reserved for the summer colony. Miss Natalie Hammond, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, will impersonate the Turkish Princess Tragabigzanda, and her guest, Miss Helen Carusi of Washington, will be one of her maids of honor.

Dwight Fabyan of Beverly Farms, will impersonate Capt John Smith and three expert horsemen will take the part of his Turkish antagonists.

This and the succeeding scene at the Court of St. James are among the most picturesque in the Pageant.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

THE presence of five of the mine laying fleet in the harbor, with the officers and men living things social, was a reminder of the days when a squadron of ships of the line and cruisers lent and color to the season hereabouts. If the powers that be in naval circles made the place a summer naval rendezvous, the entire North Shore would be corresponding pleased.

"Meadowcliffe" the estate of the late John F. Stowell, comprising a residence on Phillips avenue and several acres of land has been purchased by George F. Payne and family for a summer home. They took occupancy in June.

The family of William Ingils of Baltimore, are at their Phillips avenue cottage.

HE season is passing quietly. Practically all the out-door diversion appears to be on Lexington avenue, where the cars of the shoppers from all parts of the shore make a busy and congested state of things. The avenue appears to be more popular than ever this season, and the dealers all along the row report good business.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond have been entertaining all the week, Vice-president Marshall and Dr. George Otis Smith, formerly head of the Geographic survey, these gentlemen being members of the national coal commission which is investigating the various phases of the coal situation, Mr. Hammond being chairman of the body.

Mrs. Robert S. Chew of Washington, is a guest of Mrs. Hammond at Lookout Hill. The Hammonds will not spend much time at their summer home this season. Mr. Hammond will return to Washington next week to resume his work in connection with the coal commission investigation. Mrs. Hammond will return with her husband. They plan to return the week of the pageant.

Miss Elizabeth Hammond, sister of Mr. Hammond and Miss Natalie, their daughter, will remain during the summer. They will be joined in August by Mrs. Hoyle and Miss Mary Hoyle, of St. Louis.

Del Monte's Saturday evening presented a brilliant scene. The youth and beauty of the North Shore were liberally represented, all the tables being taken, the demand being such that the rugs in the lobby were removed and tables placed to allow more room. An augmented orchestra discoursed entrancing music and all went merrily. The scene was most diverting, handsomely gowned women, gay cavaliers with an interested gallery of onlookers all making an ensemble of light and color.

Among those who entertained were C. A. Stevens, H. P. Hood, Mr. Charles Cutting, Fred Ellsworth with a party of eight, S. H. Fessenden, Jr., with a party of ten, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Jr., with party of twelve, Mrs. A. L. Gold of the Hotel Braemore, Boston, who had a party of twelve, Mrs. F. A. Perry with a party of four and William Martin with a party of eight.

Mrs. Borden Covell, Mrs. John Chess

Ellsworth, Mrs. Sewall H. Fessenden, Mrs. Frederick F. Rhodes and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe, will be the patronesses of a dance to be held at the North Shore swimming pool, Tuesday evening. Some spectacular events are on the program, Instructor Robert Muir and Assistant Gedney are planning a midnight diving event through blazing hoops.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis A. Upson of Washington, are this year occupying the Houghton cottage. The Upsons have been coming to Magnolia for a trem of seasons, Mr. Upson being noted for his devotion to cross country riding, being one of the best equestrians in this section. They were joined this week by their daughter, Elizabeth. They were in Europe last summer.

Miss Elizabeth Covell, who has been visiting friends in Wisconsin, has arrived for the season at the summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Borden Covell.

Among the Oceanside's guests are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bunting of New York and Lieut. G. C. Bunting, U.S.A. and Mrs. Bunting.

Former season's guests returning to the Oceanside for another season are, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller of Baltimore.

Mrs. John C. Gray of Boston, will remain during July at the Oceanside and has apartments at the Lawton cottage.

Mrs. William Jay with the Senor and Senora Laias de Perola of New York, who have been staying at the Oceanside have gone to Mrs. Jay's place at Newport. They plan to return for an August stay.

Among the newcomers at Magnolia, who will make the Oceanside their summer home are Misses Mary and Margaret McGregor, Miss M. R. Lacey and James McGregor of Detroit.

Former guests welcomed back for a stay at the Oceanside, are Mr. and Mrs. Ford Ballentyne and children of Detroit. They are accompanied by Mrs. Ballentyne's mother, Mrs. James Wilson, and have apartments in the Underbrush cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Ayer of West Newton, are former guests returning for another stay at the Oceanside. They have apartments in the Wilkins cottage.

Late Oceanside arrivals are: Mrs. W. S. Wyatt, Miss Mary A. Dobbins, J. Monroe Dobbins, Phila.; Miss Alice W. Chambers, New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Frost, Cincinnati; Miss Isabelle Swan, New York; Mr. Arch M. Robinson, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Trigg Jr., Richmond; Mrs. Nicholas de Teresa, Port Washington; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hazen, New York City.

Mrs. G. M. Endicott and daughter, Miss Alice Endicott of Boston, are at Kettle Rock Inn for the summer. The Endicotts' are direct descendants of the sturdy governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony who figures so conspicuously in the early annals of the colony. Endicott came over from Dorchester in 1628 and at once left his strong impress upon the colony. He came down to Stage Fort in the Fall of 1628 and removed the community house from that site to Salem. A picture of this house was the insert feature of the first issue this season of THE SHORE.

Mrs. E. B. Richardson, daughter of the late Rear Admiral Pillsbury, U.S.N. who made his summer home for so many years at the Oceanside, is staying this season at Kettle Rock Inn.

Miss Grace Monks, daughter of Mrs. Richard J. Monks of Beacon street, has lately joined her mother at "Edgewood," their summer home at Manchester Cove, following a trip abroad. Mrs. Monks has Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth of Louisburg Square as her house guest at "Edgewood" for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert of Hospital Point, Beverly Cove, are entertaining their son, Alexander Steinert, Jr., who returned from Europe Sunday on the Aquitania after spending the winter studying at the Paris Conservatoire. Mr. Steinert will return to Paris in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Porter of Lime street and Misses Sally and Dorothy Porter, daughters of Mr. Porter by his first marriage, are for the summer at Ipswich, where they have the Charles Bohlen place. The Porter girls usually spend part of the summer season with their grandmother, Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth, at Manchester. Mr. and Mrs. Bohlen, whose winter home is in Philadelphia, are at Bar Harbor for the mid-season as they spend only the spring and fall at Ipswich.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside: Dr. and Mrs. William R. Emerson, Miss L. H. Eaton, Miss C. W. Fuller, Mrs. Chester Guild, Mrs. A. W. Hobart, Mrs. Lee McMillan, Mrs. J. H. Wilner, Mrs. A. M. Sias, William M. Sias, Mrs. C. D. Simpson, Mrs. E. M. Binney, Mrs. S. E. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dana, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, West Newton; Miss M. A. Morgan, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. L. Muller, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. F. Pollock, Miss K. Ragsdale, Cincinnati; Mrs. E. B. Stacy, York, Penn.

Among those noted at the dance Tuesday night at the Swimming Pool were the Gordon Abbotts from Beverly Farms, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Drake from Bass Rocks, Miss Helen Farnham from Bass Rocks with four guests and Mr. and Mrs. James Todd from Manchester with several guests. Miss Elizabeth Covell gave a dinner party to twenty-five prior to the dancing.

A bridge party was given at the Pool clubhouse Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Gordon Covell had two tables, Mrs. H. S. Ayer one and Mrs. Luther Ely Smith one table.

Services at the Union Chapel for the rest of the season will be held as follows:—

HE anniversary year promises to be a quiet one. As in other places quite a few of the colony have gone to Europe to escape "drives" or for some other reason.

Yachting, for years was the favored sport in this locality, but hardly a catboat is to be seen nowadays in East Gloucester waters. And the next war is to be on the sea and in the air.

Miss Edith Notman entertained a dinner party of 12 at her home, "Three Waters," Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hall, have closed "Stoneacre" for the season and will spend the rest of the season in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tyer Brown and family, of East Orange, N. J., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Tener at their Eastern Point summer home.

Miss Priscilla Pollard, has arranged a tennis tournament for children to continue through the summer, the proceeds in aid of the Children's Hospital.

Guests of Mrs. S. A. Raymond at the "Ramparts", include Mr. and Mrs. H. Hume of Albany; Mrs. Fred Williamson and Miss Bertha Stockwell of Albany;

Dr. A. B. Meldrum of Cleveland and her grandchildren Hilda, Madeline and Molly Williams of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clay, Jr., (Dorothy Eastman), are rejoicing over the birth of a son, John Clay, 3rd, at Chicago, July 8th. Their wide circle of friends in the North Shore Colony extend congratulations.

Arrivals at The Hawthorne Inn are: Mrs. Paris S. Russell, Miss Virginia Russell, Staten Island; Mrs. Wilson B. Durbrow, East Orange, N. J.; Miss S. Orth, Mrs. George Bosworth, Boston; Mrs. Edward M. Hughlett, Baltimore; Mrs. M. H. Merchant, Miss Julia Merchant, Warren, R. I.; Mrs. Clarence R. Hopper, Toronto; Miss M. E. Rumney, Philadelphia; Matilda M. Clarke, East Orange, N. J.; Miss E. de L. S. and Mrs. Elliott; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Chelsea; Mrs. Clara E. Raeder, Boston; Mrs.

Thomas Pinckney, Charleston, S. C.; Miss Josephine Pinckney, Charleston, S. C.; Gordon Harrington, Mrs. C. W. Harrington, Everett; Mrs. George E. Simmonds, George Simmonds, Baltimore; R. M. Davenport, New York; John Clarke, Jr., Mrs. John D. Clarke, Miss Agnes Clarke, Bryn Mawr; Miss Mary Rindsfoos, Elizabeth Rindsfoos, Columbus, O.; Mrs. William P. Shaw, New York; Mrs. J. B. Purchase, Miss J. B. Purchase, Milwaukee, W. Clelland Barclay, Chicago; Katherine Van Vlick, Superior, Wis.; Thos. L. Ferqua, Louisville; Charles M. Lammot, Miss Julia Lammot, Phila.; Miss M. A. Goodwin, Middleton; Malcom S. McCombie, Jr., Washington; J. H. Emerton, Boston; Judge Charles Wheeler, Buffalo.

PAGEANT STATISTICS

More than 13,000 seats including the boxes will be provided for the pageant "Gloucester" to be given at Stage Fort, Park, Gloucester, August 28 and 30. Of these 10,000 will be chairs with backs so that each person will be placed comfortably.

These will be encircled in the rear by inclined bleachers, seating 3000 people.

EAST GLOUCESTER

WITH two rival art exhibitions in full flower, the man in the street is getting free gratis, a fine showing of the best work of the artists of this section. Over at the converted barn studio, where the North Shore Art Association holds forth is a worthwhile display which attracts much attention.

At the Gloucester Artists' Associations' new home, near the Hawthorne Inn, the "no jury" exhibit also commends itself to a large throng of interested visitors. The war between the artists camps of Guelphs and Ghibbelines has resulted in stimulating the artistic interest all around.

Tuesday night the grand military ball at the Hawthorne Casino with army and navy officers in resplendent uniform was easily the mid-July social event along shore and a goodly sum was netted for the disabled veterans.

"Mah-Jong", the Chinese card game, is displacing bridge in popularity at the Inn. Thursday evening a card carnival with "Mah-Jong" as the central attraction, was held at the Casino. All the tables were taken and the affair, which was under the direction of Mrs. Harcourt, was highly successful. The proceeds went to the fund for the Sunday evening concerts.

Mrs. Ethel Seal Carpenter, interior decorator and writer of note, of the Ladies' Home Journal, and other magazines is a guest at the Rockaway.

The arrivals at the Rockaway are:— M. A. Platt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Walsh, Fannie B. Loomis, Mary E. and Maud L. Rafter, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Temple, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. T. Morris Pirot Jr., T. Morris Pirot, 3d.; Henry Francis Pirot, Mary Elizabeth Pirot, Lawrence Lawson, Mrs. and Miss Allen, Miss N. C. ### MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

Round and About the Town Goes The Clan in Quest of the Desirable

The Gloucester National Bank
Rest Room

Oh Peg o'my Heart,

As you see, I'm in your favorite haunt. It's wonderfully cool—like the North Shore Theatre. I'm sitting in comfiest reed chair—I'm sure it's from the North Shore Furniture Company. It's just like mine.

So you wish to hear all about what's doing, like the dances at the Oceanside, and how many new guests have chosen that delightful place for over the Anniversary. I've reserved boxes for you and Phil and the rest have seen to theirs—I mean the pageant, now.

The other day Mrs. Leigh telephoned that her sister and her sister's victim—excuse me! husband—had arrived in town with their little girl. I didn't quite catch the name but it sounded exactly like Arizona-Jane. However, I know every stitch that the child has on. Little baby things from the Grande Maison de Blanc, such as an adorable cherry dress with a cherry hat to match, not to mention daintily colored sunbonnets with dresses to match. To omit nothing, Donald Junior has one of those cute little French jersey suits. All this over the telephone! It gives almost as good service as McPherson-Symmes' Market.

I went to Magnolia—well, to be exact, to Lexington Avenue—the other day with David. Our little romance of last summer went where all good romances go—to Lethean shores, woe is me! You know that. You know that the long white row of shops just whispers romance, too. Well, as I was saying, it does. Then imagine a tea dansant at Del Monte's—! The picture is before your eyes I know. A breeze, beautifully colored gowns, swaying figures, the tables—the perfect setting! Then my feet were giving me such a glow of satisfaction. This is not going from the sublime to—you know what. My feet were encased in a pair of exquisite black velvet slippers with two gold loops tapering to the toe. Yes, Cammeyer's. I heartily agreed with David when he told me that my feet looked adorable—but I didn't tell him so. Those weren't quite his words, but anyhow it was very thrilling. He didn't use such a prosaic word as feet. I blushed. No. my sunburn increased, and I told him a charming little tale of gold brocaded, silver brocaded, silver or gold kid trimmed slippers, and oh, yes! a pair in tarnished gold material. Not to be a piker, I even said that there were others like mine in different colors. I hated to change the subject, it was so fascinating, but—can you beat it, as the woman said to her husband about the rug—David didn't compliment me again, he said that Cammeyer's was some little shoe shop! Wasn't I mad.

At Ovington's though, I repaid him. There was a venetian glass electric lamp hand-made in the form of a wistaria vine! Can you imagine the delicate green glass leaves, the clusters of the lavender flowers (some had one, some two, and others three clusters) all in glasswork, and then conceive it lighted! Gorgeous it certainly is on my desk. I have one. It's an absolutely new thing, too. We met Prof. Wayne in there. Have I told you of him? Mark Wayne, isn't that name perfect?

He is quite famous. He paints or writes or does something unusual unusually. He is a professor in some western college, but he dances, paddles a canoe, and plays tennis! He is only forty-five. He is not married, and is in Who's Who. For the rest of his accomplishments, I like him. David doesn't. From the wistaria-vine lamp that Prof. Wayne admired with me, we went—Oh!

Yes, I can see your anxious chaperone-y eyes now, Peggy me love. I didn't mention that Molly, in a homespun sport suit from Jonas's, with a coquetish cape attached, and Anne in one of

Crystal and China for Summer

WHEN the sun mounts in the heavens and the morning's tennis is done, when the sun sinks low in the west and summer tea is brought, and at all times between those whens, hostesses will find a shaded nook in a green garden, and a cool drink in a crackled glass, a decided asset to their gatherings.

And whether it's a cool drink or hot tea, a cosy cup for two, or a full assembly of all the aunts and cousins, there's no denying that Ovington china and crystal makes the enchanting custom of tea even more enchanting. Tea things and refreshment sets from Ovington's are always charming and seldom expensive.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVE. AT 39TH ST., NEW YORK

their more elaborate—and positively stunning—sport suits, were both present with their men. It sounded much more thrilling to ignore their presence.

We went to Schmidt's, where we found Joan admiring a set of three comportiers, one large and two small ones. They were early Victorian, of the Marquis Breadalbane collection—a real treasure. Trust Schmidt's!

Naturally, I can't fail to describe our Jo. She was garbed, the only word for it, in an ecclesiastical, or nun's gown, from Slattery's. You know that cool, flowing effect—imagine it in gray, with a white collar that can be worn three different ways, (not at once) and deep white cuffs!

Alas! Professor Wayne had no more eyes for me. He even became enthusiastic when Joan spoke of a Slattery luncheon frock in Elizabeth crepe. Black and white, very smart, with effective draping and plaiting! I thought that it must be very attractive, but Professor Wayne didn't have to say it. I dislike effeminate men, and I was very nice to David for the rest of the time.

Of course, you want to hear about Farr's. Joan and I both have bought the duckiest glove suede coats there. Mine is a three-quarter length, hers is a jumper coat. Mine is a soft shade of brown, hers a beautiful green. (They have them in all colors, with or without sleeves). As usual Farr is unusual and original.

I have the most adorable stock of sweaters from McCutcheon's. I know that you're going to die of envy when you see them—beige, gray, black and white, every color in the sunset. I realize, though, that I won't be able to crow for long. You'll be at McCutcheon's yourself before the summer is over.

I'm really quite melancholy. Professor Wayne invited himself to have Joan take him all over Frank E. Davis's plant, and, really, that's a romantic place. You know the "tang of the sea" and ships sailing out to catch the golden fish—all those thoughts spring into your head at once when you see that beautiful array of sea-foods.

Chubby and Jimmy and I went, too; but Joan was in one of Manahan's white felt sport hats with a white wool coat sweater. Manahan just put me in the shade. I was wishing that I had worn one of their colored ones, but Chubby offered me a strawberry ice-cream soda at Barker's, and I determined then and there to find an excuse to leave them.

You know yourself that the Safe Deposit and Trust Company is always a valid excuse for one of the clan to journey from Frank E. Davis' to Main St.

Anne and Jack were coming from the Gloucester Station the other day, and as the Model Market is very conveniently near it, they have ordered almost enough food to last until you come back; and with Chubby around, that's an order that only the Model Market could fill.

Wetherell's is still as popular with Chubby as ever.

Is there any more news? I must tell you everything. You'd go simply wild over Stickney, Jacobson and Goodman's where you get the famous White Mountain refrigerators. I can see you now in Tompkins' (Pattillo's as was) ordering old hickory furniture perhaps.

Jimmy sends you his love and is waiting for you to return to the National House Furnishing Company to help him choose a chair that Chubby won't break, while I am waiting to see you make a bee-line for one of the hammocks at the North Shore Furniture Company.

When you pass Trowbridge and Finnegan's, after another of your famous vows to resist all tempting sodas, you'll not say "Vade retro, Sodanns (?)" but you'll go in to find out why there's always a crowd around there. You'll come out not wondering but understanding.

I'm going to make you suffer for staying away so long. Remember that Gloucester Creamery Ice-cream—! Oh, delicious! It's better than ever.

Chubby will give you a share in Hornblower and Weeks, Jimmy will take you as far as the home of the Cape Ann Shore in one of the Gloucester Auto Bus Company's nice big busses, I'll take you to the North Shore Theatre, and Joan will give you some of the Gorton-Pew

BASS ROCKS

BASS ROCKS

THE amateur plays the whole thing this season and also the art shows of the rival organizations over toward the Point. Gone is the interest in golf, as far as any tournaments of note are concerned. Ditto, tennis, which made quite a respectable showing at Bass Rocks for several seasons. Consequently the season in the open, seems rather quiet and subdued. Conspicuous by its absence are the hilarious sounds of Jefferson Johnson's orchestra over at the club house on Saturday nights. Does this quietude denote a reversion from the cult of the great God Jazz and a return to normal in social life? Let's hope so! A consummation devoutly to be wished!

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Carter of New York and Bass Rocks, are spending the summer at Nantasket with their daughter, Miss Eunice Peabody Carter.

ANNISQUAM

IN mid-season it looks as if the tussle for first place between the rival skippers in the yacht classes, might be close. Russell Smith and Jack Hooper are running a neck and neck race which may not be decided until September. In the Cat and Fish classes the contests for first position bids fair to be interesting.

The death of Mr. Hawes, the author, is a real loss to Squam. He chose the place as his home, liked the people and entered heartily and democratically into the activities of the place. His early taking off is a source of genuine regret to many who came to know him during his sojourn here.

Com. H. H. Wiggin and family of Brookline, are at their summer home, Annisquam Point.

Lewis T. Hawkins and family of Providence, are among the Rockholm cottage colony who have arrived for the season.

Prof. and Mrs. Charles F. Bradley of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, have opened their Bayberry Ledge cottage for the season.

George L. Huntress and family of Winchester, have the Cunningham house, River road.

Mrs. W. A. Truax and family have arrived at their Diamond Cove cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wise-Wood of New York, have arrived at their Annisquam summer residence for the season.

J. K. Skillings and family are occupying the R. O. C. cottage at Diamond Cove for the summer.

B. Sanford Riley and family of Worcester have arrived at the Richardson cottage, which they have taken for the season.

A. F. Good and family of Bethlehem, Penn., are spending the summer at the Haskell House on Leonard street.

ANNISQUAM YACHTING

Saturdays Racing Close and Snappy—Fine Breeze—
Hurrah, Sandpiper, Perch and Kittiwake the

The conditions last Saturday made for a rattling good afternoon's racing, a brisk southwest breeze prevailing giving all the classes a fine rap full from start to finish.

Russell Smith is out to regain the championship in the Bird Class, won last season by Jack Hooper in the Tern and has two first's chalked up to his credit already.

The Tern got the best of the start but on the broad reach to Essex the Sandpiper pulled out in the lead turning about a half-minute ahead. Sam Gordon in the Albatross, was in the meantime sailing a good race and was holding the Tern handily nosing out second place at the outer mark.

Sandpiper and Tern worked the middle of the bay on the beat home while the Albatross went over to the Lanesville shore on the port hitch.

When they reached the red buoy the Tern and Albatross were practically on even terms. Coming up the river it was a neck and neck struggle, Tern winning second place by six seconds, Sandpiper winning first by 28 seconds.

In the Fish class Harry Griffin in the Perch, by using good judgment landed first berth. All got away well bunched, Bob Morse in the

On the windward work the Perch and Bluefish stood over on the starboard tack in-shore, while the others went off on the port hitch.

Perch and Bluefish gained by the move and headed the fleet to the finish mark.

Sumner Andrew in the Cat class had the advantage of the getaway and although closely pressed, lead the way all over the course. The Copycat was out of luck. She fouled a buoy and was withdrawn.

Commodore Wiggin and ex-Commodore Woodbury had a fine sail in the Fifteen Foot class the conditions being favorable for the Hurrah. The summary:—

SUNDAY'S RACING

Wind and Tide and Lady Luck
Big Factors in the Outcome—Tern, Catenary

Wind and tide played a big part in Sunday afternoon's race and those wise in the love of Squam river benefited thereby.

At the start the breeze was steady from the southeast and held so until the boats reached the mouth of the river on the homing leg. Then the wind died down and, added to this, a strong tide swept down the river, those boats which were clutched in its grip being set back out of the running.

In the Bird class the Tern had the advantage of the takeoff but at the Black buoy the Sandpiper drew ahead and was first on the dead run to the Essex mark rounding it 35 seconds ahead, Albatross being a good third.

On the close reach to the inner mark, the Tern drew steadily up and when three-quarters of the distance had been sailed passed into the lead, turning 10 seconds ahead of the Sandpiper.

On the beat home the Tern increased her lead to the Black spar buoy. At that point the wind petered out and was fluky.

Here Lady Luck came in with impartial hand. A fortunate puff lifted Sandpiper ahead 25 feet out to windward. To make matters worse for the Tern she grounded near the Beacon.

When she was afloat, luck veered in her favor, a slant of wind shifting her to windward of the Sandpiper.

Just here the tide took a hand and set the Sandpiper way back while the Tern, out of the current, worked up the west Parish bank and before the Sandpiper got out of chancery the Tern had established a four minutes lead which was maintained to the line.

In the Cat class the fleet were well bunched at the start. Puss-in-Boots gradually pulling out ahead and rounding first on the reach to Plum Cove, Catenary and Skipjack overlapping just astern.

After rounding the inner mark on the beat home, Capt. Norton of the Catenary thought it best to come about to port and so stood inshore, while the rest kept along on the other tack. He gained nearly five minutes by this move and, when in the river, wisely retained his advantage by making short tacks up the Squam Shore. Fred Hawkins in the Catchup, taking second honors.

The Fish class also got away on even terms and on the reach to Plum Cove the Skipjack lead the way which advantage she retained on the second leg, a reach to the inner mark. Watson Hastings in the Bluefish being a close second.

On the beat home, Capt. Hastings and Capt. Griffin in the Perch, came about to port and stood inshore, while the rest stood to the westward, the result being that the Bluefish and Perch made the mark in one tack, leaving the others far astern. The summary:—

LONG BEACH

The season at Long Beach has opened well and this promises to be one of the gayest sections of the North Shore Summer Colony.

The Long Beach Hotel is under new management and serves a sumptuous shore, chicken, or lobster dinner. It operates under both the European and American plans. Dancing every Wednesday and Saturday evening helps to liven up the Beach.

The Long Beach Club House is also a center of attraction at the Beach with dancing two and three times a week. The Bowling Alleys also give enjoyment to the bowling fans.

Edgecliff cottage has for its occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Yaeger and family of Worcester, Mass. Guests for the week are Mr. and Mrs. John Jergensen and daughter, Anna of Worcester, Mr. Arthur Swenson of Worcester, Mr. Kimm and his daughters Dorothy and Marjorie. Mr. M. G. Fitzpatrick is a guest of his daughter, Mrs. George Yaeger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Ackers of Cambridge, are spending another season at the "Seabreeze."

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Frost of Reading, and their daughters Ruth and Marjorie, are at the "Outlook" for the summer.

GLOUCESTER'S WATER SUPPLY

These water sheds are further safeguarded from the fact that they about the Mt. Anne reservation, on the Northwest and the Ravenwood Park area to the South, so that purity of the supply is doubly assured for all time.

There are three of these basins, Dike's meadow, Haskell's pond and Wallace pond. It is the two former which are availed of in summer and they are of exceptional quality and contain a minimum of vegetable matter.

A trip to the Haskell pond section is especially interesting. No finer woodland drive may be found than New Way lane in upper West Parish or West Gloucester, leading to Haskell's pond. This road also leads to the top of Mt. Anne or Thompson's mountain, the highest land on the Cape, rising some 255 feet above the sea level, not very much of a mountain to boast of. But once at the top, one of the finest views in this section is afforded. To the south and westward lies Boston bay, and, on a clear day, Bunker hill monument may be discerned. Under similar favorable circumstances the White mountains may be dimly seen while to the northward, Ipswich bay sweeps down and merges into Salisbury beach and the New Hampshire and Maine coastlines.

To those who love a day under the greenwood tree this offers a most inviting spot. The area of the mountain is a public reservation being given as such in memory of one of the Minot brothers of Boston.

When a person decides on Gloucester as his home for the summer, he makes no mistake as far as pure water beautiful, rugged views of land and sea, extensive woodlands, some of which are public reservations, as Ravenwood, fine macadam roads, pure air uncontaminated by factory smoke, in addition to other advantages, is concerned. These make up specifications hard to surpass and of these the item of a pure water supply is one of the most important.
